Welcome to Fort Worth for A Framework for Understanding Poverty Trainer Certification. Many of us are making crucial decisions on our campuses: points of change, budget cuts, and the challenge of continuing to provide key content with fewer financial and personnel resources.

By joining in this three-day certification, you are taking a step to raise the achievement of your students and strengthen your school. You will leave with the constructs needed to train your teachers and organization in the strategies and processes that will create positive change in the learning of your students. That is significant!

We encourage you to take full advantage of this networking opportunity to talk with your fellow participants and colleagues from across the United States. Not only will you learn best practices from this training, but you will also learn best practices by exchanging ideas with these colleagues. Have fun this week, and enjoy learning from each session you attend!

Sincerely,
Ruby K. Payne
